GREETINGS!

I am pleased to welcome you to Indianapolis for the Indiana School for the Deaf Basketball Homecoming. It is an honor for our state and capital city to host an event that fosters the talent of these outstanding athletes.

Your participation in today's event is a testimony to the dedication you have put forth. All of the effort you have invested and the time you have given for your team is testament to your character and determination.

Additionally, it is my pleasure to congratulate the families and coaches for their time, support and energy in facilitating the opportunity for these young individuals to develop their skills. The important lessons of hard work, commitment and sportsmanship will benefit them throughout their lives.

Again, welcome to Indiana. I hope this homecoming competition inspires you to perform to your fullest potential. I send my best wishes for a successful event and for continued success in your future endeavors.

Sincerely,

Evan Bayh

Greetings:

On behalf of the citizens of Indianapolis, it is my pleasure to welcome you to the Indiana Deaf School's 1995 Basketball Homecoming.

I congratulate the athletes for their efforts which have led them to this athletic event. We look forward to enjoying the games and commend you for your immense commitment and hours of practice that will be showcased during the competition.

The citizens of Indianapolis join me in extending our best wishes to you for a memorable visit to our city.

Sincerely,

Stephen Goldsmith

Greetings to all from ISD,

I extend a hearty "welcome to Indiana" to all of our visiting friends from the Wisconsin School for the Deaf. We hope that your stay here will be fun-filled as well as full of Hoosier hospitality. We all enjoy the challenge of athletic competition and may each team play their best.

I cheer on our Deaf Hoosiers team. Give your best effort and best sportsmanship, knowing that the fans and school are behind you 100 %. Enjoy the game while you challenge our visitors to new levels of play. In the end, the better team will win; but both teams will have played the game well representing their schools.

Be strong. Play long. And may the best teams win!

Dear Friends:

While it is unusual to have a homecoming event for a basketball game, I think it is a great idea to bring alumni, families, staff, and students together as often as possible during the year!

As you know, basketball is one of the most popular sporting events attended by members of the Deaf Community. It's fun to watch and challenge one another as to who the best teams are, while catching up on the news of friends.

May the best team win, good sportsmanship prevail, and a good time be had by all!

Sincerely,

Dear Friends,

Happy New Year! May this new year bring you happiness, healthy and blessings. Homecoming Basketball has always been a special tradition at ISD. It gives us, the Deaf community as a whole, an opportunity to support the school's athletic program and honor the royal students and student-athletes. Winning or losing is not the main purpose of this homecoming. Positive attitude, sport appreciation, school pride and 100 % effort are what makes the homecoming event an exciting and memorable one. As athletes, just perform to the best of your ability and enjoy the tradition and honor of representing the school.

The Athletic Department wants to express gratitude to the Homecoming committee and school's services for making this event possible and to the various organizations for their program book advertisements.

Best wishes,

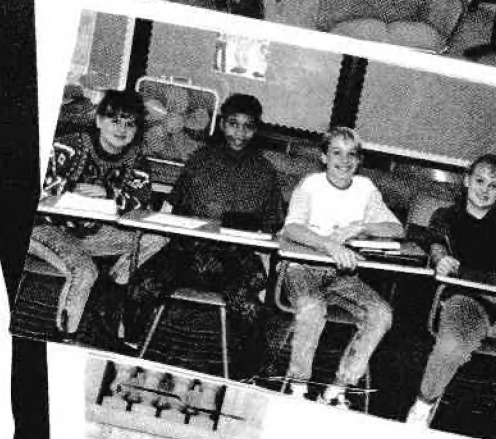

Marsha Wetzel

From the Friends of Jarvis Ray Gunn

Too Soon to Say Good-bye

He had the face of an angel and a mischievous gleam that sparkled in his bright blue eyes. That was the Jarvis Gunn we students knew. His death in a car accident on July 21 has left an empty place at ISD and in our hearts.

He had many wonderful qualities that drew us to him. Telling his made-up jokes, cheering people up, making us laugh when we were blue, and impressing us with his intelligence by staying at the top of his class were just some of the reasons we cared about him. Like many teenagers, though, he sometimes let his mischievousness get out of hand; nonetheless, he was always a good-natured person at heart.

Jarvis started at ISD in 1983 as many of us did. Our childhoods together merge in memories of recess, classes, games, and sports. Even then he liked to have fun. For example, once he realized that noise would make the light on the auditory trainer go on, he would yell and then quiet down. Soon we were all making the lights flash!

His talent in sports began to show itself early. He loved to get teams going on the playground. That was just the beginning. By the time he was in high school, he had already shown talent in football, basketball, and track. In football, he was a talented quarterback who liked to fire up the team spirit of his fellow players. He liked making the players feel challenged. He never gave up and kept fighting until the end. A strong competitor, he hated to lose any game.

In basketball, Jarvis was a good teammate also. He kept focused on the game and rarely lost his cool. When he had a weak spot, he worked to improve in that area. He always impressed us with his ball-handling skills and his willingness to make assists.

In track, Jarvis was a skillful long-distance runner who practiced hard to beat his own time. At meets, he was a blur of muscular legs tearing up the track.

Jarvis was a leader of boys, who looked up to him as a bright boy. He openly showed his intelligence and was not ashamed of it. He was a proud Deaf person, strongly linked to his culture and knowledgeable about ISD history as one of the fourth generation in his family to attend ISD. Now that he is gone, ISD will not be the same. We will never be the same either. Our friend is dead, and we miss him.

Dear Staff, Students, Parents, Alumni & Friends of ISD,

Greetings from Kentucky!

We are pleased that we can come and play your fine school for your 1995 Homecoming. The Kentucky School for the Deaf looks forward to an on-going excellent relationship with the Indiana School for the Deaf.

Best wishes for a successful Homecoming event.

Sincerely,

Harvey Jay Corson, Ed.D.
